

"Good Night Sleep Well", text-installation at Nachshon Gallery, Kibbutz Nachshon, 2003

Text-installation constructed for the space of the gallery at Kibutz Nachshon, comprised of different objects, chairs, dolls, spotlights and a personal text I wrote on the walls in red marker.

In the work I returned to the moment I said goodbye to my mother. It is a journey to my childhood and to lost loving moments. "Good Night Sleep Well" was a bedtime farewell phrase, a part of my mother's nighttime ritual. "Good Night Sleep Well" is my farewell from my mother, and perhaps from the girl I once was.
